“ From my first class with Dr. Johnson, I knew that she was special and I knew that I would learn everything I needed to know to be a good teacher from her. She cared about her students and when we struggled she reminded us that we were a family and that we could call on her for advice and direction. I spent many afternoons in her office at The Coliseum talking about lesson plans and ideas for how to engage my young learners in physical activity.

I had tragic events take place last year in my personal life and she was there for me. One afternoon, I walked into her office and told her "I quit". She calmly told me to think about everything overnight and to know that I was strong enough to get through the next few weeks and that I was not alone. I stayed in the program because of her, but I could not have gotten through that first semester at UWG as a HPE major without her. Christine pushed me to be better whether as a student and as a teacher. She would be very proud of all of us today and how hard we have worked. I shared my personal struggles with her and she listened as she did with all of us. I will miss her and my heart is broken for her family.

Please know that your daughter, sister, friend, student, teacher and companion was an inspiration. The world has lost a beautiful and shining star.
