“ So sad to hear the news of Emily's passing. I have many fond memories of Emily and have shared lots of laughs with her. She was a wonderful mother and friend to all. I was Victoria's Kindergarten teacher which is when I first met Emily. Victoria, you are in my thoughts and prayers. Your mother loved you dearly and I'm sure she will be in your heart forever. Know that she will always be watching over you. May God give your family peace and comfort in the days ahead. Thanks for the memories, Emily.

“ I was so sad to read in the Aiken church publication of Emily's death.

Many years ago, I had retained her to paint some ivy on the walls of our house's front entry. When she looked over the site, she asked, "What would you think of wisteria instead?" "Terrific," I answered, so she got to work. I wish I still had a picture of the result, but no, it's somehow gotten lost in the downsizing (I'm now a widow, living in a retirement home in Virginia.) But it's still there! When I put the house up for sale, prior to moving, my son-in-law came up from Texas to repaint most of the interior. He wanted to just paint over it, but I put my foot down! So he and I painstakingly dabbed around all the flowers and leaves; now the wall looks good as new. (It helped that he's an artist.)

She was such a lovely person, and such a joy to have with us for the few days the job took. I know she'll be sorely missed by her friends and family. You are all in my thoughts and prayers.

“ I met Emily when our daughters were in the same 2nd grade class at Claxton Elementary School. Her enthusiasm and willingness to volunteer made her a welcome addition to the Claxton Family. She volunteered in the classroom and also spent countless hours tutoring children who needed some extra help and positive attention. As our daughters became good friends, I was blessed with the opportunity to get to know Emily. In the years that followed, which included sharing rides to field trips, summer art camps, and many sleepovers, I was always inspired by Emily's unfailing positive outlook and cheerful good humor. She made everyone around her feel comfortable and welcome. She will be greatly missed by all those who had the good fortune of knowing her.
My sincerest sympathies to Gerard and Victoria and the rest of her family,
