“ Miss you very much Jill after all the years have passed. So glad we enjoyed our times together insane laughter. Real struggles, and true completeness is sorely missed that we always found. As we always said I love you and you know what it is..... always ❤️

“ Too bad we never met. Enjoyed exchanging stories; your recollection of Meyer Lansky was the best. You were loved by many. Time to smoke one, in your memory.

So any good memories as we were roommates for a few years and friends for many more. Jill wasn't much for big gatherings but was always good company.

I've known Jill for many years and she was a beautiful person inside & out. I was blessed to be chosen Godmother to her son Jake by Jill & her husband Larry "my" wonderful partner. I know you are at peace and reunited with Larry, your dad and loved ones past. May you rest in eternal peace <3

“ It was a great privilege to be among your close circle of Facebook friends. You were such a warm, honest and likeable person. You always touched on the lives of those whose came into close contact with you. I wish I had known more about you, Jill. You will be sorely missed.

“ Though I never met you in the flesh, you were one of those comparatively rare people with whom I'd have liked to have bent an elbow and had a laugh. In your honour, we've sent a donation to the London Arts Council, a small gesture I'm sure you'd have found gratifying.

“ A beautiful light was extinguished Jill Fisher was an amazing woman, someone I skyped with, talked on the phone with and corresponded with via old school style letters, the world is a much sadder and darker place with you no longer in it.....I hope you were fighting all the way and went, listening to ska or old school reggae, and enjoying a glass of shiraz....I will miss you dreadfully. Baruch dayan ha'emet.
